Dr. Susan N. Ishikawa, Fellow 1998 – 1999, has joined The Campbell Foundation board of trustees. A native of Hawaii, Dr. Ishikawa received an undergraduate degree in biology from Harvard University and attended Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia on an Army Health Professions Scholarship. Dr. Ishikawa served seven months in Iraq as the orthopaedic surgeon on a surgical team stationed at Camp Baby- lon south of Baghdad. Dr. Ishikawa, who completed her fellowship at Campbell Clinic, is a foot and ankle specialist. She served his residency at Campbell and joined the staff in 1937. Dr. Boyd climbed the national and international ladder in orthopaedics and served in many leadership positions, including President of the AAOS in 1953. His interests in travel and photography took him around the world three times. Dr. Boyd was highly esteemed by all who knew him – as an individual, surgeon, teacher, and humanitarian.

Campbell Clinic physicans Dr. Greer Richardson, Fellow 1976-1977, his son Dr. David Richardson, Fellow 2000-2004, and third year resident Dr. Cameron Knight, spent a day at the Mem- phis Union Mission providing foot exams, foot care and hygiene. Most of the 140 homeless and uninsured people were able to be treated on site, but some were taken to an emergency room. Each person was fitted for the proper size and type of shoe and given a pair of tennis shoes or work boots, donated by par- ticipating shoe companies.

Questions of comments? Email us at jstrain@campbell-foundation.org or call 901-759-5490

Mark your calendar

You are invited to the Campbell Club Alumni Reception at the AAOS Annual Meeting

Friday, March 7, 2008
6 - 8 p.m.
InterContinental Hotel, Grand Ballroom A
888 Howard Street
San Francisco, CA
RSVP 901-759-3229 or kdsalguer@yahoo.com

Focus on Kenneth Moore, MD
Franklin, TN
Fellow 1973 - 1975

Family: Wife Linda
Education: UT-Campbell Clinic Fellowship ’73
UT Rheumatology Fellowship ’72
UT College of Medicine ’67
Practice: Mid-TN Bone & Joint Clinic 1976—2004
Health Volunteer Overseas. Bhutan 2005
Black Lion Hospital, Ethiopia 2006

Professional Memberships:
American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons
American Association of Hand Surgery
American College of Surgeons
American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons

Professional Memberships:
American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons
American Association of Hand Surgery
American College of Surgeons
Tennessee Hand Society
Tennessee Orthopaedic Society
Campbell Foundation Alumni Executive Board

Fond memories of Campbell Clinic are numerous from the "hot water corncakes" to my medical experiences. One memory that sticks out was a Monday night meet- ing and pathology section with Dr. Pitcock. I was a green first year resident and was on the back row hoping to hide (as were some of my colleagues). Dr. Pitcock put up an aray of a lytic mid-tibial lesion and started grilling the residents who were uncertain about the diagnosis and offered varying diagnoses, all which were met with some sarcasm from the professor. He finally called on me and I blurted out "It's an Adamantinoma of long bone" much to his surprise and mine because I don't know that I had ever read about it. To this day, I along with my fellow residents who knew me, question whether it might have been a message from above rather than anything that I had read about this rare lesion.

Our sincere thanks to the many alumni who supported The Campbell Foundation in 2007

From Campbell’s History

Harold B. Boyd, M.D., the third Campbell Clinic chief of staff (1962-1970) had no interest in orthopaedic surgery until, during his internship in Bakersfield, California, he was inspired by a sur- geon who held a clinic monthly to treat crippled children. Dr. Boyd served his residency at Campbell and joined the staff in 1937. Dr. Boyd climbed the national and international ladder in orthopaedics and served in many leadership positions, including President of the AAOS in 1953. His interests in travel and photography took him around the world three times. Dr. Boyd was highly esteemed by all who knew him – as an individual, surgeon, teacher, and humanitarian.

Don’t miss the 2009 Campbell Club Triennial and Centennial Celebration April 23 – 26 in Memphis!