Campbell Clinic CEO to Retire

John Vines, CEO of Campbell Clinic and Executive Director of The Campbell Foundation, has announced his retirement effective December 31, 2009. Since joining Campbell Clinic in 1992, Mr. Vines and his staff relocated the clinic from Madison Avenue in the medical center to Germantown, expanded its reach in Shelby County and north Mississippi with two additional clinics, and almost doubled the number of physicians. The Campbell Foundation broadened its awareness among community leaders, alumni, and grateful patients to support our residency and fellowship programs, publications, and research.

"This truly is retirement. I plan on spending the hot summer months in North Carolina and the winter months here (in Memphis). I plan to keep busy with mission work and whatever else that interests me. I wish all of you well, and will always be a champion of Campbell Clinic."

Thank you for supporting The Campbell Foundation
