Education:
University of Notre Dame
Tulane Medical School
Ochsner Clinic—Surgical Residency

Campbell Clinic was truly a formative influence for me. I admired my mentors and did my best to emulate Dr Ingram, Dr Boyd, Dr Cal, Dr Crenshaw, and on and on. The younger staff at that time, Greer Richardson and Pete Wright and others of that tenure, also showed the character and judgment that I admired.

I think that Campbell Clinic of course teaches academic orthopedics to the highest standards. Campbell Clinic offers a superb clinical experience. But what distinguishes Campbell Clinic in my mind is the intangibles: the camaraderie, the fellowship, and the tradition of excellence.

There is a bond that develops at Campbell Clinic that is unique and is to be celebrated and treasured. We are all part of an unparalleled tradition of excellence in Orthopedics that is Campbell Clinic. It is up to us to keep it that way.

Two residents present at AAOS Annual Meeting in New Orleans

Dr. Scott Hecox, PGY 4, is presenting a poster with Campbell Clinic staff physician, Dr. James Calandruccio, of an anatomical study of flexor tendons in the hand.

Senior resident Dr. Matthew Bernard is giving a presentation Friday, March 12, on "Trends in ATV-Related Spinal Injuries in Children."

Introducing a new app for your iPhone® and iPod touch®
CAMPBELL'S OPERATIVE ORTHOPAEDICS

We are proud to introduce Campbell's Operative Orthopaedics iPhone®/iPod touch® Application. It is the first mobile application that puts the most trusted and widely used resource in orthopaedic surgery in your hands! Among the included features are:

- Step-by-step instructions for 242 surgical techniques.
- Video clips of 20 key surgical procedures hand-selected by senior Clinic residents, such as total joint arthroplasties · minimally invasive procedures · and arthroscopic procedures.
- Accessibility anytime, anywhere on your iPhone or iPod touch.

Campbell's Operative Orthopaedics application is available for purchase through the iTunes Application store by searching for "Elsevier" or at ElsevierHealth.com/apps.
