When asked to reflect on why I support The Campbell Foundation, my thinking gravitates to what the Clinic itself has meant to me and my life. Quite obviously and simply, it's where you and I got our start. A good friend and Campbell graduate in 1986, Randy Tindell, summarized the Campbell experience as "The Clinic teaches you a healthy conservative approach to orthopaedics". It's that approach that has successfully guided me and many other Campbell grads throughout our careers. And for that I feel a debt of gratitude. Our heritage is rich, but to continue into the future this fraternity needs the support of its alumni. It's our participation that gives it life!
